Dear Harold,

Please don't forget that things I've told you can be taken for revenge or bitterness. Remember the things Carole has done and said, and R's reactions to them. Please keep in mind that he may believe I've done the same, even though he and I have long disagreed on the activities I've mentioned.

I don't feel I'm being disloyal to him as much as being loyal to you. I plead with you not to discredit him until he has thoroughly explained sincerely as I now believe he may be able to. He's always known more about what he's doing than I have.

Please believe I have no desire to hurt anyone.

Sincerely,

Lita
